

WORLD BOX HONG KONG

Travel the World of Faiths and Festivals.

Fire Dragon Dances

The Tai Hang Fire Dragon tradition started when the village was ravaged by a typhoon and a plague on the eve of the mid-summer festival.

According to legend a fire dance had to be staged for three days to rid the village of the troubles.

Click here to watch a short film about this dance.

Christmas in Hong Kong:

In Hong Kong there is a great tradition of sending Christmas cards and many of these are hand-made using Chinese crafting techniques.

Poinsettias flowers, tinsel, Christmas lights and Nativity scenes decorate homes, churches and public places.

There is a street in Hong Kong that only sells Christmas Trees in the weeks leading up to Christmas Day as these are particularly popular with the people who live there.

In Cantonese Father Christmas is called "Sing Daan Lou Yan" which means "Christmas Old Man" although most people still refer to him by the English name.

Online Access: Supervise young people when they're online and give them advice about staying safe.

